

NOTES FROM THE Cape Cod Concert Band

About Us

Incorporated as a 501c(3) charitable organization, we have a two part mission: to provide lifelong educational and performance opportunities for skilled community musicians, and to enhance the musical and cultural life of Cape Cod.

We have been presenting music as a performing ensemble since 1974, when the group was first formed as the Cape Cod Conservatory Wind Ensemble. We declared our musical independence in 2013. In the six busy concert seasons since, we've performed four world premieres, sent our musicians into the Barnstable Public Schools, and entertained the military families living on Joint Base Cape Cod.

Join The Band!

Are you a wind or percussion player in search of a place to play? We welcome adult musicians and high school students on the recommendation of their band directors. Visit our website to learn more.

Support Our Mission

Because we believe community music is for the whole community, our concerts are presented with no admission charge. Our musicians volunteer their time and talent for rehearsals and performances, and give even more of themselves to our musical outreach programs for young musicians and JBCC children.

Generous Cape Codders help us to defray our many operating expenses, including venue rental, music purchase and preservation, conductor stipend, equipment upkeep, program production, and insurance. Please consider making a tax-deductible donation in support of community-based volunteer music on Cape Cod.

Music in the Time of Corona

The CCCB suspended rehearsals in early March, hoping — as we all did in those early days of COVID-19 — that we might be performing again by the end of May. We have remained in suspension through this fall, and like most performing arts organizations, we have been forced to cancel the upcoming spring concert series as well.

As soon as it is safe for players and audience members to enjoy live music together again, the CCCB will strike up the band. Stop by our website and sign up for our mailing list to receive email concert updates.
